Hey Mouse it's [name removed],

Nice find!

I listened to the podcast, and not many people acknowledge the fact that they are not hackers and have the modesty to not brag about their findings. Respect!

I'm currently in the process of writing a java app. for S40 and S60 nokia phone series to automate the process of scanning and connecting to the BSCs. I might not release it when it's done though, I might keep it for personal use, simply for the fact that releasing it will only block the service from everyone else.

If you're in need for some coding skills, drop me a line.

Good luck in the future.

At first, I thought you were Jetmouse, on the PPCwarez forum. But I don't think you guys are related.

Anyhow, we have a few Lebanese there (yeah even MODS FAHED).

Congrats on your catch about this by-pass. Glad to know we have a few braniacs in Lebanon. Keep up the good work. I subscribed to the RSS feed so I can keep track on your news.

Anyhow, I kept on trying to search on the net for LiquidAqua, but Nada found. And I understood from the podcast that there's an app for the BB as well? NONE for HTC (or any other windows OS on PDA?)

Keep us updated my friend and keep up the good work

Best Regards,

Hello Mouse.

I just wanted to ask if this option works on all the phones?

I have a Nokia 6300 and I live in Bayrouth Al Koubra, precisly Achrafieh.

I tried the numbers from 0067 till 0104 and each time I'd get the following service reply:

"Your Request is being processed. Please wait."

What should I do?

Mouse,

can you tell me hte code to turn off the BSC?? i think that would be fun!! i will not share it with anyone!

Got also many other emails asking about the BSC code, or from where to download the APP, etc...

WHO'S BEHIND THE IDEA

AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

Tuesday afternoon, I decided to make a joke on the 1st of April via my banadoura podcast. So I sent a tweet asking "if you want to help me with a fun and secret project, send me your email and phone number".

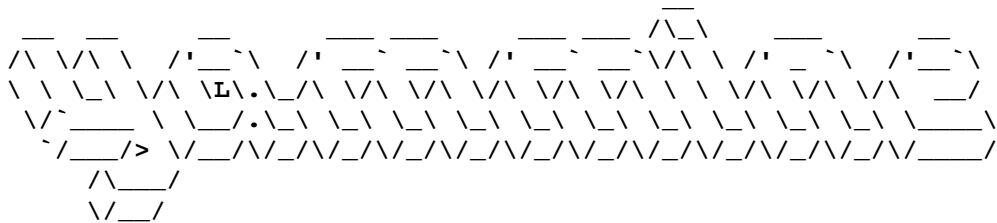

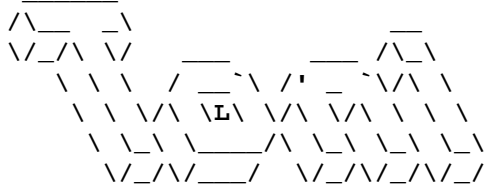

Many friends from the twitter community joined (ma badeh sameh ta ma insa hada...) and we all brainstormed together. We were communicating on a shared Google doc file.

My original idea was about aliens, but the community decided that it has been overused. So @migheille proposed to do something related to phone calls and cellulars, and this idea was born :)

Later that night, I called my friend Jad Bejjani, who is a telecommunication engineer, and together, we created a believable story why it is in fact possible to make free calls. We did record the podcast, I created the PDF, and @naeema provided the LOGO (I had to convince her to do something wazwaz haha).

On 1st of April, 12:01 AM, we released our campaign.

You know the rest of the story.
